Classic Home Builders, Inc. Showcases Hy-Lite/U S Block Windows in Model Homes

PENSACOLA, FLA. – A model home is more than just a way for homeowners to envision a future living space --- it represents a builder saying “this is the best work I can do for you.” In Pensacola, Fla., Classic Homes Builders, Inc. proudly displays a variety of building products and practices in their model homes that have led them to win more than a dozen awards. And, in each of those model homes they’ve chosen to install a Hy-Lite/U S Block acrylic block window.

“We started this company 26 years ago with a commitment to style and a high standard of quality in our construction practices,” says Rick Faciane, co-owner of Classic Home Builders, Inc. “We’ve developed a variety of communities. In each one we try to create a model home that captures the needs of potential buyers.

“By using unique designs and products we’ve successfully placed hundreds of families in our homes. When it comes to the construction of these properties, we rely on products that offer homeowners ‘elegant privacy,’ such as the acrylic block windows we’ve installed for years from Hy-Lite/U S Block Windows.”

In several recent model homes in the Twin Spires and Nature Trail subdivisions in Pensacola, Faciane and his partner Danny Speranzo installed arch top block windows in bathroom settings. “We’ve installed both the operable and fixed acrylic block windows in these model homes,” says Faciane. “Both provide a flow of light into a room while protecting the privacy of the homeowners. Once people see these impressive windows, they want them in their homes.”

The Twin Spires and Nature Trail model homes will soon receive national attention when they’re featured on the syndicated home improvement television show, Today’s Homeowner with Danny Lipford. The show’s team will include the homes in a segment airing during the second quarter of 2010 focusing on faux products that look like the real thing.

“In our experience, glass blocks are very heavy and bulky to install,” says co-owner Speranzo. “The acrylic block windows we install are about 70 percent lighter in weight than the glass block. Plus, it’s a huge benefit that they come to us already framed up and ready to insert in their openings. Most glass blocks have to be mortared together one-by-one in a home. Acrylic block windows are faster to install and have the added advantage of coming in operable styles like casements, awning and single hungs, so homeowners gain natural air flow.”

Constructed of durable acrylic blocks, windows, walls and partitions from Hy-Lite/U S Block Windows can be installed quickly in any area of the home. The obscure blocks provide privacy yet allow light to flow through to enhance each area of the home. For more information on Classic Home Builders, visit www.classichomebuilders.com.
